Dr. Chaunté Hall, Co-Founder, Centurion Military Alliance (CMA), Founder, Airman Heritage Group (AHG), and Chief of Community Engagement Port San Antonio

Presentation: A Woman Leading with Purpose: Impact through Entrepreneurship, Non-Profits, and Military Service

- Dr. Chaunté Hall will share insights on service-driven leadership, building successful organizations, and empowering diverse communities.

Dr. Hall is a distinguished U.S. Air Force veteran and accomplished senior executive with extensive experience in business development within military and defense communities. She currently serves as the Chief of Community Engagement at Port San Antonio, where she leads strategic initiatives to strengthen community ties and foster economic growth.

In 2013, Dr. Hall co-founded Centurion Military Alliance (CMA), a nonprofit organization dedicated to assisting transitioning service members, veterans, and their families. Under her leadership as CEO, CMA has supported over 30,000 individuals in their transition to civilian life. She also founded the Airman Heritage Group, focusing on preserving Air Force history and supporting programs at Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland. Her commitment to service and leadership continues to have a significant impact on both military and civilian communities.

Beyond her nonprofit endeavors, Dr. Hall has contributed to academia as an adjunct professor at the University of the Incarnate Word. Her expertise encompasses nonprofit organizational leadership, government policy, emergency management, business intelligence, and strategic planning.
